our latest & greatest

There's always something happening at Princess® – shoreside and shipboard.

CELEBRATING 20 YEARS OF SUSTAINABILITY

We depend on our oceans, and we are committed to help protect the planet for future generations. We were thrilled to commemorate the 20th anniversary of ShorePower, an innovative technology that Princess pioneered with our local partners in Juneau. We returned to the Alaska port to celebrate where it all began and where we continue to “plug in” to electric power and turn off our diesel engines. Not only are we lightening our carbon footprint, but we are giving funds back to the Juneau community. We’re also extending our sustainability efforts through extensive recycling programs, wastewater treatment, and the introduction of upcycled Ocean®#tide accessories for the OceanMedallion™ device – made from 100% reclaimed marine plastic waste and glass.

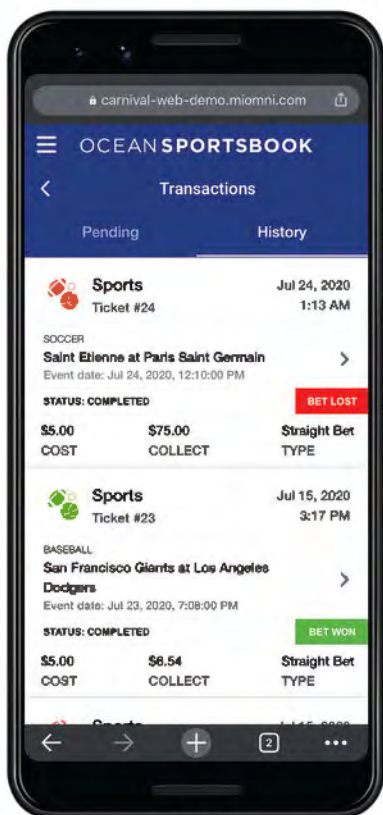

RELIEF FOR CYPRUS

When devastating wildfires engulfed several villages in Cyprus, people from all over the world came to their aid. Among those, Commodore Nick Nash and HGM Dirk Brand immediately reached out to provide support. The team from Enchanted PrincessSM collected supplies that went directly to families and firefighters impacted by the island's worst catastrophe in decades.

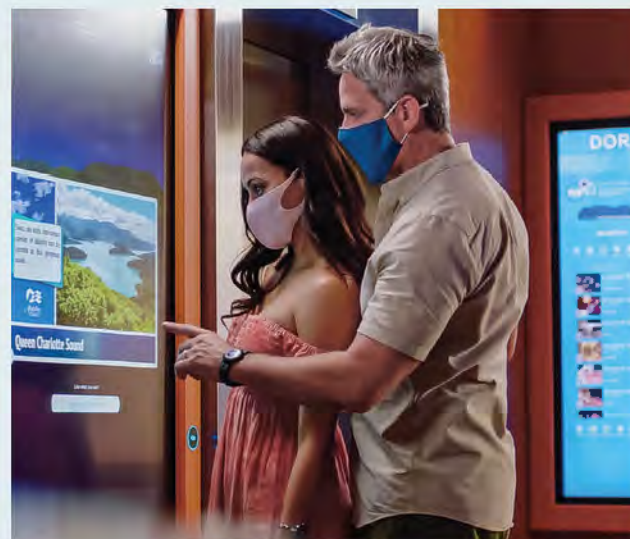

PICTURE THIS

Your Princess voyage is all about making memories. Our professional photographers help capture every moment. New offerings include Snap Shots, Cruise Moments and Perfect Portraits. We now offer popular 5- or 10-photo packages so you can select your favorites and get the digitals for free on a souvenir thumb drive. Save 10% on onboard prices when you purchase pre-cruise in Cruise Personalizer.

GAME ON!

wild Alaska awaits

Watch the breach of a humpback whale from the deck or spot a family of brown bears on a hike through the forest. Whether you're on the ship or exploring the shore, Alaska's majestic wildlife surrounds you.

DOLPHINS & PORPOISES

Many species of dolphins inhabit Alaska's waters, including Dall's porpoises, Pacific white-sided dolphins and harbor porpoises, which frequent the shallow coastal waters and are commonly seen throughout the area.

SEALS

Harbor seals can often be found hauling out on sandbars, beaches or ice floes all along the Alaska coast. When they aren't lounging on land, they glide through the water with speed and grace, occasionally popping their round heads above the surface.

ORCA WHALES

Actually the largest member of the dolphin family, orca whales are at the top of Alaska's wildlife food chain. Their hunting abilities and complex social behaviors make them some of the most crowd-pleasing animals to spot on your cruise.

SEA OTTERS

With their thick, layered fur, sea otters are comfortable even in Alaska's winter months. You can find these playful creatures in shallow waters, diving for shellfish or floating on their backs to eat or sleep.

HUMPBACK WHALES

Prior to making their winter migration to Hawai'i, humpback whales gather in Alaska to feed. They soar effortlessly above the surface of Prince William Sound and take crashing dives into Glacier Bay National Park, and you can watch the show from your cozy spot on the deck.

BALD EAGLES & SHOREBIRDS

Majestic eagles and shorebirds glide high above Alaska's coasts. As the state's largest bird of prey, eagles can usually be seen hunting for food from the tops of towering trees or circling coasts and rivers teeming with fish.

peak adventures

How hard would you push yourself for an adventure of a lifetime? For Ralph Samuels, climbing Denali was the ultimate experience in a lifelong pursuit of exhilaration.

Ralph Samuels, vice president of government community relations for Princess®, was born and raised in Alaska. When the untamed wilds of Alaska are in your backyard, there's one pinnacle that nearly everyone has their eye on: Denali. Rising more than 20,000 feet, this legendary mountain draws at least a thousand climbers each year.

To acclimatize to Denali's extreme elevation, Samuels, who has tackled Denali three times, explains that most climbers rely on the "climb high, sleep low" expedition method. Climbers hike to a certain elevation to bury their food and fuel and then return back down. The next day, they climb back up to set up camp, repeating the process day after day.

While severe weather and rugged terrain are always challenges, Samuels reveals the one factor that can overwhelm even the most experienced climbers: "You've got to be physically in shape, and you have to know the technical aspect," he says, "but the one that's most important is the mental aspect. It's so tedious!" Boredom aside, he recalls his most terrifying moments on the mountain. "We climbed up to a ridge at about 16,500 feet. The wind gusts kept coming, probably 80 miles an hour, and they'd blow the tent over. It sounded like a freight train! We ended up shuttling over to a snow cave that had been dug by previous teams. I don't think I've ever been so scared in my entire life."

Climbing Denali

His mountaineering days are now behind him, but Samuels still considers those some of the best experiences of his life. "Denali is just a stunning, massive mountain. You open up the tent and there's that view!" Even if summing 20,000 feet isn't on your bucket list, he recommends choosing a Princess cruisetour that pairs a glacier-filled voyage with a journey to Denali National Park. "Princess does a great job showing off different sections of Alaska in one vacation." From sea to land, each part of your journey is equally rewarding and full of new discoveries that meet your level of adventure.

MedallionClass® memories

Social media's travel experts share their favorite moments of sailing on Princess MedallionClass-enabled ships.

After sailing through Alaska in summer 2021, style and travel maven Thamarr Guerrier (@musingsofacurvy lady) describes her MedallionClass experience with Princess as “effortless.”

Thanks to MedallionClass, she enjoyed a more personalized experience. Not fumbling to have a physical key to open my stateroom was awesome and the first thing I noticed. But also with the staff when they would bring me a drink or entrée, they called me by my first name. Reembarking from a day at port was super easy and I noticed how seamless the system was.

Among all the features onboard Princess, she also remembers that Dine My WaySM helped make a memorable experience. We selected our dining options on the first day with Dine My WaySM. It was great to not have to clog up the phone lines to call for a reservation. We thoroughly enjoyed dining at all of the restaurants and main dining areas.

As for sailing in Alaska, Thamarr says her most life-changing excursion was the hike and river float in Skagway and that her recurring theme of the whole trip was simply “wow.” The views on the hike in Skagway and me saying wow on repeat. Of course, having breakfast on the balcony in Glacier Bay I will never forget. Definitely my favorite wow moments.

Meet Courtney O’Dell (@sweetcsdesigns) who sailed to Alaska with Princess in summer 2021. She chose the sustainable bracelet for her OceanMedallionTM and on formal nights she slipped on the gold bracelet version.

MedallionClass features made much of her onboard experience a breeze. We used OceanNow nonstop. We ordered breakfast every morning – nothing like waking up to an egg muffin and latte without having to get out of bed! Ordering extra pillows and hangers through the app was great.

Courtney was also a fan of several other features aboard her MedallionClass ship. We used JourneyView often – especially in Alaska – since there were a lot of programs we wanted to listen to. JourneyView makes it really easy to see exactly what’s happening on the ship at all times, save activities you want to do, and share them with friends on board!

And let’s not forget the MedallionNet[®] Wi-Fi, an important feature for influencers at sea! I was able to livestream the view from Glacier Bay, Alaska. Completely remote, didn’t miss a beat and had great video-streaming quality!

europe's palate-pleasing excursions

Let the shared language of food lead you toward new connections in every port you visit with Princess®. On a cruise through Europe, Local Connections excursions invite you to delve into each region's culinary heritage, learn generations-old family recipes directly from the locals, and track down signature dishes that help define a destination.

into the Irish countryside. Enjoy a sheep herding demonstration, and then master the art of making traditional soda bread before enjoying a family-style outdoor lunch (DUB-170).

your perfect pairing

Your wine & cocktail guide from Princess' own sommelier and certified wine instructor, Renée Muller.

What makes a great meal on vacation? Is it the scent of an outdoor grill mingling with the salty ocean air as you sip a crisp New Zealand sauvignon blanc? Sharing made-from-scratch pasta with your loved ones over a bottle of Napa cabernet? For your next voyage, we've gathered some tips from Renée Muller, a Princess sommelier and certified wine instructor accredited by the International Sommelier Guild.

Formal dining night

On board with Princess® you'll find our entire wine list has been designed in collaboration with Doug Frost, one of four people in the world to hold accreditations as both a Master of Wine and a Master Sommelier.

To take advantage of some of our special offerings, Muller suggests sampling a limited-production wine such as Australia's celebrated Penfolds Grange, Shafer Hillside Select Cabernet Sauvignon from Napa, or Château Pétrus from Bordeaux. If sailing Sky Princess® or any Royal Class ship, you'll get to choose from the largest selection at sea of these unique Italian Bordeaux-style wines.

Craving a hand-tossed, hot-out-of-the-oven Alfredo's pizza? Try it with a Frescobaldi Chianti Rufina Riserva Nipozzano. Check the drink menu at each restaurant to find a wine that perfectly complements your meal. Eating sushi at Ocean Terrace Seafood Bar? Pair it with a light, sparkling Gloria Ferrer Blanc de Noir. And if you're in the mood for a glass of wine on its own, Muller's favorite choice of the moment is Domaine Faiveley Montagny, offered by the glass exclusively at Vines.

While guests love to order tropical cocktails that Princess mixologists are known for like the Ultimate Piña Colada and 24K Gold Margarita (and rightly so!), Muller has her own favorite recommendations. Kick back one afternoon in the SeaView Bar, watching the waves and sipping on a vanilla-kissed, citrus-forward Amaretto Sky, and enjoy an evening apéritif with an effervescent Pear to Flair. Currently, her favorite cocktail is the Night at the Apollo, perfect for listening to live jazz in the Take Five lounge. It's made with St. Germain Botanivore Gin, fresh lime juice and simple syrup, and finished with fresh blueberry and mint.

Ready to take your knowledge to the next level? Join locally inspired events like a tasting of Alaska brews or sake tasting in Japan. Enriching wine-tasting events are in every itinerary, including the Princess Fine Wine tasting featuring premium Old World and New World varietals and the Grapevine Tasting where you swirl and sip your way through a lineup of diverse wines paired with colorful commentary on wine etiquette and specifics of each wine selection. No matter how you envision your next dining experience, Princess® can make it happen thanks to the dedication of our highly trained sommeliers and mixologists.

the best views are from your ship

Fall into the rhythms of a real vacation from the moment you board your Princess® ship. Not only will we keep you busy with one incredible meal after another, endless activities and dazzling entertainment — but those relaxing moments in between will be equally unique. Simply scope out these special spots where you're invited to soak in incredible views.

UNWINDING ON THE BALCONY

Reserve a balcony room and revel in your own private space to sip morning coffee and greet the sun. If you're looking for the pinnacle of the Princess cruise experience, choose a Sky Suite on deck 18. Inclusive amenities set this whole experience apart, but the real star attraction is the 1,000-foot deck that wraps around three sides of your suite — perfect for relaxing or entertaining. Sit back and watch approaching shores and even enjoy unobstructed views of Movies Under the Stars®.

STEPPING OUT ON THE DECK

On a scenic day of cruising through glacier-filled bays, the ship's deck is your best bet for clear views accompanied by expert insights from a park ranger. Bring a camera that can honor these views as you enjoy 360 degrees of Alaska's massive glaciers, mirrored waters and jagged coastal range.

FINDING YOUR SANCTUARY

Peaceful seclusion is the cornerstone of The Sanctuary, a retreat reserved just for adults, where pampering is the only activity on your agenda. Unwind on a chaise lounge with wide-open sea views as you order your favorite drinks and light meals provided by Serenity Stewards. The adjacent Retreat pool offers open-air enjoyment in an easy, relaxed setting.

STROLLING THE SEAWALK®

You'll feel as if you're stepping on water on this glass-paneled walkway that's cantilevered 128 feet above the sea. Built into both Royal Princess® and Regal Princess®, this breathtaking space is the perfect spot to capture views of the waves below and of the horizon through the sweeping floor-to-ceiling windows.

Whichever space you claim for yourself, your perspective from sea promises to be unbeatable. From the icy shores of Alaska to blissful Caribbean waters, find the views that inspire you to get out and see the world anew.

which shore excursion is right for you?

When it comes to planning shore excursions, we really mean it when we say there's something for everyone. Seek out activities that have been curated with the help of Local Connections experts, and look for the Discovery™ or Animal Planet™ seal of approval.

If you're into cultural exploration... you'll love the colors of Curaçao. [CUR-100]

Explore all sides of this vibrant Caribbean island. Starting in lively Willemstad, the Curaçao Museum celebrates contemporary and traditional art from both local and international artists. More remote landscapes reveal the island's arid landscape and underground grottos.

If you're into ecological wonders... you'll love the rainforests of Limón. [LIO-105]

Soar above the treetops on a rainforest aerial tram. This exhilarating ride offers a bird's-eye view of the rich canopy. Explore deeper on a forest hike and then glide along the famed Tortuguero Canals on a boat ride.

If you're a botany lover... you'll love the gardens of Kaua'i. [LIH-215]

McBryde Garden and the adjacent Allerton Garden are tropical wonderlands tucked in the Lāwa'i Valley. Explore hundreds of acres in a tranquil setting with waterfalls and shimmering pools. An alfresco lunch in a garden gazebo completes your day in this natural paradise.
